I'm not sure yet. I think he's still concerned about the representation of smaller states. Maybe we can come to some resolution soon. Possibly a compromise?

James Madison
Well, looks like we're finished debating the New Jersey plan. Back to the Virginia Plan it is! States' rights has certainly become an important issue at this convention. I'm really opposed to giving so much power to the more populous states.

Status Update: Finally, a compromise! States will have two seats in the upper house while the number of seats in the lower house will depend on the population of the particular state.
